Invitation to Freelancers to write about their experiences during the 2022 National General Elections

The PNG National Research Institute (PNG NRI) is inviting freelancers to write and submit their election observation experience during the 2022 National General Elections (NGE).

The wish of the PNG NRI is to see that the 2022 NGE is carried out fair and all protocols in place for the election are followed. People should be able to cast their votes without fear or favour.

Please submit EOI including 2 page profile on your qualifications, work experience and if you have writing experience. Those selected would be given a template to work on the issues or generally about candidates, campaign issues, policies, political parties, general conduct of elections and the outcomes.

Freelancers can submit their papers to PNG NRI for consideration which will be considered for inclusion as a Monograph for the 2022 NGE. The documentation of the National General Election will give more depth for future referencing.

For submissions for PNG NRI to consider for publication, please send in your papers by 12 August 2022, that is two weeks after the return of writs (on 29 July 2022) to:

pngnri_communications@pngnri.org

For enquiries, please contact Samuel Kehatsin on Tel: 326 0061 or Email: Samuel.Kehatsin@pngnri.org

All EOI closes on 12 July 2022.
